OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
STATE OF MONTANA

GREG GIANFORTE
GOVERNOR

KRISTEN JURAS
LT. GOVERNOR

September 15, 2024

Dear Leaders of Tribal Nations in Montana,

Serving as governor of the great State of Montana is the honor of my life. It has been my pleasure and honor to work with you, advancing the shared goals of the State and Indian Country. During my time in office, we've broken bread together, worked to expand economic opportunity, and discussed the big challenges facing our communities here at the State Capitol and in tribal council rooms.

Today, I am please to present to you the 2024 State-Tribal Relations Report. In these pages, you will get an overview of some of the progress we've made together over the last fiscal year, to make Indian Country, and all of Montana, an even better place to live, work, raise a family, and do business.

Together, we've seen success with our pro-jobs, pro-growth polices at work, helping both our tribal communities and Montanans prosper. We've worked to advance educational opportunities across the state and Indian Country, making sure the next generation is prepared for the workforce. We've helped strengthen our traditions and the cords of memory, making sure we pay tribute to the past. And, we've worked to protect our communities from crime and drugs while surging health care resources to support the most vulnerable among us.

We've made great progress, but as I always say, "better is always possible." I look forward to continuing to work with tribal leaders to strengthen our partnership so that we can deliver for the people we represent.

Please do not hesitate to reach out to me. My door is always open to you.

Sincerely,

Greg Gianforte

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Governor Greg Gianforte proudly presents the fourth State-Tribal Relations Report of his administration. The report, which covers accomplishments in Montana for the state Fiscal Year 2024 (FY 24), provides information about the successful efforts borne from strong collaboration between the State of Montana and tribal partners.

This annual report has been presented to Montana's tribal governments since 2003, as mandated by Montana Code Annotated § 2-15-143.

The report contains five sections and four appendices:

Section I, Partnering in Indian Country - highlights the governor's visits to each of the eight tribal communities and governments in Montana as well as tribal summits hosted by the governor in the State Capitol.

Section II, Economic Development and Infrastructure - showcases programs and active measures to boost economic development and improve infrastructure in Indian Country, including supporting Native small business owners, entrepreneurs, and agricultural producers.

Section III, Education and Culture - describes successful efforts to improve educational opportunities available to Native students, promote tribal contributions to Montana history, and preserve and showcase Native cultures.

Section IV, Natural Resources and Wildlife - details collaborative initiatives between the State of Montana and the eight Tribal Nations in Montana to conserve our environment and manage our resources.

Section V, Safe and Healthy Communities - outlines efforts to promote safe and healthy communities, including investing in mental health and substance use treatment services, providing access to preventive health care resources, strengthening families, improving food security, combating the crisis of Missing and Murdered Indigenous Persons, and advocating for and protecting consumers.

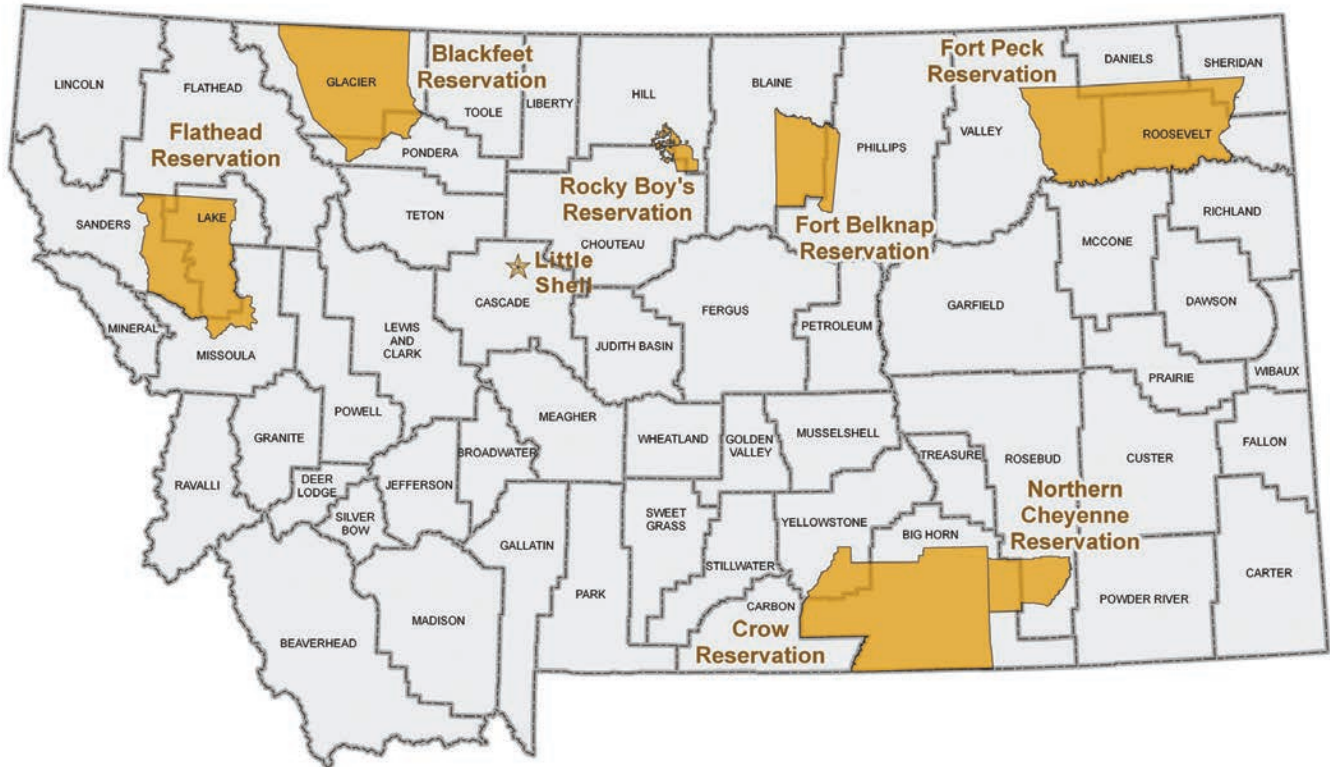

Appendix A - provides contact information for the eight Tribal Nations in Montana.

Appendix B - details gubernatorial appointments of American Indians serving Montana on state boards, councils, and committees.

Appendix C - provides a list of key Governor's Office staff and Cabinet members.

Appendix D - showcases more than 500 agreements, negotiations, and collaborative efforts that occurred during state FY 2024 between the state and the eight tribal governments in Montana.

RESOURCES

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE OF INDIAN AFFAIRS

The Governor's Office of Indian Affairs has a clear mission: to collaborate with tribes and Native communities in Montana to promote economic, spiritual, social, and physical health and wellness.

Misty Kuhl, an A'aniih member of Fort Belknap Indian Community, leads the Governor's Office of Indian Affairs. Born and raised in Montana, Director Kuhl is a cum laude graduate of Montana State University-Billings.

The Office of Indian Affairs coordinates efforts with the Montana American Indian Caucus, the State-Tribal Relations Committee, legislators, community stakeholders, and others to advocate for issues important to Indian Country.

Dedicated to community outreach, Director Kuhl travels thousands of miles each year to partner with tribes on various projects and strengthen relationships. She looks forward to continuing the governor's commitment to being actively engaged in our tribal communities and a strong advocate for Indian Country.

STATE-TRIBAL RELATIONS COMMITTEE

Between legislative sessions, the State-Tribal Relations Committee (STRC) acts as the Legislature's liaison with tribal governments in Montana. Ten members, four from the Montana State Senate and six from the Montana House of Representatives, comprise the bipartisan committee, which meets with tribal leaders to hear their concerns and receive input on various topics of interest to the tribes and the state. The STRC typically visits two to four reservations per interim.

The committee encourages intergovernmental cooperation, conducts wide-ranging interim studies, and reports its activities, findings, and recommendations, including legislation, to the next Legislature.

Sen. Jason Small of Busby serves as chairman, and Rep. Tyson Running Wolf of Browning serves as vice chairman. Learn more about the committee at: <https://leg.mt.gov/committees/interim/strc/>

MONTANA AMERICAN INDIAN CAUCUS

The Montana American Indian Caucus (MAIC) serves an essential role in state government, both representing Native American constituents and providing guidance to the Legislature and the administration. A bipartisan group of Native American representatives and senators comprise the caucus.

PARTNERING WITH INDIAN COUNTRY

Fulfilling his promise to Montanans, Governor Greg Gianforte each year visits all the state's 56 counties and each of the eight tribal communities and governments. The governor also hosts delegations from each of Montana's tribes in the State Capitol, building common ground and strengthening critical partnerships with tribal governments. These face-to-face meetings and in-person visits, both in the governor's office and in Indian Country, facilitate open discussions on shared priorities as well as challenges facing Tribal Nations in Montana and the state.

"The State of Montana stands with our tribal partners in combatting the challenges both our communities face, whether its economic development and the affordability crisis, or setting up the next generation for success through education and workforce training. We are committed to coming alongside our tribal communities to make our area the greatest place to work and live."

ON THE ROAD IN INDIAN COUNTRY

Every year, Governor Gianforte travels to each Indian reservation and headquarters, meeting with tribal leaders, small business owners, and community groups strengthening Indian Country.

Last summer, Governor Gianforte joined Senator Susan Webber (D-Browning) to visit the Chief Earl Old Person Memorial Highway, which had been unveiled by the Blackfeet Nation in early July.

Sen. Webber brought a bill forward in the 68th Legislature to dedicate a portion of U.S. Highway 89 to Chief Earl Old Person, the longest-serving elected tribal leader in the country. The governor signed the bill into law in April 2023.

CONVERSATIONS IN THE CAPITOL

Governor Gianforte and Lieutenant Governor Kristen Juras also host each tribe for summits in the governor's office, providing an opportunity for the governor to connect with tribal leaders on opportunities and challenges facing Indian Country. Tribal delegations include chairmen or presidents, members of the council, and other leadership.

At the summits, the leaders strategize on driving economic development, addressing substance use and addiction, promoting health and wellness, and building safer, stronger communities.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND INFRASTRUCTURE

With the governor's pro-jobs, pro-growth policies and the hard work of Montanans, Montana continues to set records for job growth, business creation, and unemployment, including in Indian Country. -

The State of Montana will continue to work with Montanans in every community to make our state and Indian Country an even better place to live, work, raise a family, and achieve the American dream. -

PROPERTY TAX RELIEF

Tribal members living off the reservation feel the impact of rising property taxes. While property taxes primarily fund local jurisdictions, Gov. Gianforte and the Legislature delivered Montanans property tax relief, securing homeowners $280 million in immediate rebates and $120 in permanent, long-term relief.

In 2024, Montana homeowners are eligible to claim a second property tax rebate up to $675 for property taxes paid on a principal residence for 2023.

Gov. Gianforte shaking hands with Rep. Tom Welch, R-Dillon, sponsor of House Bill 222 providing Montana homeowners a $675 property tax rebate in 2023 and 2024. Office of the Governor.

PROPERTY TAX TASK FORCE

In line with his priorities to deliver meaningful, long-term property tax relief, Gov. Gianforte established a diverse, bipartisan Property Tax Task Force to identify innovative, thoughtful solutions to reform Montana's property tax system. The Task Force included Tribal representation from Terry Brockie of the Fort Belknap Indian Community.

The Task Force proposed a homestead exemption for Montana homeowners for their primary residences, which would provide a lower tax rate for those with primary residences in Montana.

According to estimates in the Task Force's report, the homestead exemption could "directly reduce property taxes for over 215,000 primary residences and over 32,000 small commercial properties and could also indirectly reduce taxes and rents for over 130,000 renters in the state."

INVESTING IN OUR TRIBAL COMMUNITIES

UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA - 3F ACCESS TO CAPITAL

3F Access to Capital event.
University of Montana.

Launched in the past year, the 3F Access to Capital event at the University of Montana brought together stakeholders from Indian Country, urban, and rural communities to address funding challenges for businesses. Held on April 17-18, 2024, the event provided scholarships and travel stipends to rural and indigenous partners. Key outcomes for Indian Country included identifying opportunities such as developing an AI tool for matching entrepreneurs with funding, training funders in cultural competencies, and creating a no-thesis investment fund to support rural and indigenous lenders.

MDT SAFETY & PAVEMENT PRESERVATION

From 2023 to 2024, the Montana Department of Transportation (MDT) Maintenance Division had four safety and pavement preservation projects, consisting of striping, chip seals, crack seals, and overlay projects.

Fort Belknap: Durable striping epoxy work along US-2 and MT-25. This project was completed October 6, 2023 and the total cost was $86,681.09.

East of Fort Belknap: Durable striping epoxy work along US-2. This project was completed October 4, 2023 for a total cost of $96,396.22.

Ashland East and South: Crack Seal work at two locations along US-2/US-212 and Sec-484 on the Northern Cheyenne Reservation, totaling $25,8120.41, and was completed June 16, 2024.

North of Wolf Point North: Overlay work on secondary highway 250 on the Fort Peck Assiniboine and Sioux Reservation is planned to be completed in September 2024. The cost for this project is $1,612.496.

MONTANA TRIBAL BROADBAND

In the past year, the Montana Broadband Office (MBO) engaged with Tribal communities to improve broadband accessibility. Following the 2022 BEAD funding notice, MBO held Tribal stakeholder sessions in ten Montana cities, including a significant meeting on December 9th in Billings, coordinated by the Crow Tribe. Leaders from the Northern Cheyenne, Crow, and Fort Peck Tribes, along with Siyeh Communications, participated. These sessions aimed to ensure Montana's Tribal communities can access broadband funding to enhance connectivity statewide.

Gov. Gianforte signs a letter authorizing the investment of over $309 million to expand broadband access.
Office of the Governor.

REVENUE INFLUX

Tax cooperative agreements promote cooperation between the state and sovereign tribal governments to prevent dual taxation while ensuring critical state, local, and tribal tax collection.

The Montana Department of Revenue (DOR) and the Montana Department of Transportation (MDT) collect and distribute the tribes' taxes on tribal members on a quarterly basis, based on the fuel tax collected during the prior quarter.

MDT has tax cooperative agreements in effect with the Blackfeet, Chippewa Cree, Confederated Salish and Kootenai (CSKT), Crow, Fort Belknap, Fort Peck, and Northern Cheyenne Tribes for motor fuel tax. In FY 2023, these agreements generated $6,042,975.21 for tribal governments

| RESERVATION | AMOUNT |
|-------------------|----------------|
| BLACKFEET | $1,229,165.76 |
| CSKT | $699,400.71 |
| FORT BELKNAP | $599,609.42 |
| FORT PECK | $955,614.95 |
| ROCKY BOY | $549,518.87 |
| NORTHERN CHEYENNE | $621,901.74 |
| CROW | $1,387,763.76 |
| TOTAL | $6,042,975.21 |

The Department of Revenue also has tax cooperative agreements with tribal communities for alcohol, tobacco, and marijuana revenues.

The US Highway 212 Safety Action Plan is funded by SS4A and matching funds by Rosebud County. The Study includes a Safety Task Force of stakeholders that include local MDT representatives as well as Northern Cheyenne and Crow tribal representatives.

Through completion of the US 212 Comprehensive Transportation Safety Action Plan, Rosebud County and members of the US 212 Corridor Safety Task Force are committed to the eventual goal of zero roadway fatalities and serious injuries.

In July 2023, MDT staff was honored to attend the Chief Earl Old Person Memorial Highway dedication.

State Senator Susan Webber carried Senate Bill 120 to rename this stretch of road. She coordinated with MDT for the development of the sign and its placement.

MDT's Browning Section assisted in the dedication and the unveiling of the sign.

INFRASTRUCTURE IMPROVEMENTS

Investing in roads, bridges, and other infrastructure improvements in Montana and in Tribal communities is a key part of Gov. Gianforte's Comeback Plan.

The Montana Department of Transportation (MDT) is working closely with our Tribal partners to identify areas where state government can come alongside tribal communities to repair older infrastructure and break ground on new projects.

Round Butte Road Path-Ronan – 2024 is the second year that this project has been under construction. The project is tied with a much larger project called Ronan-North. The Round Butte Road Path-Ronan part of the project is a Transportation Alternatives funded project that the CSKT applied for in 2018. The project provides a 1-mile long concrete sidewalk on the north side of Round Butte Road.

Multi-Use Path-Heart Butte – A project in the Preliminary Engineering phase, but nearing completion. It has been in the Right-of-Way acquisition phase for the last 3 years, but the Right-of-Way acquisition is nearly complete. This project will provide a 0.7 mile shared-use path from the community of Heart Butte to the school just south of Heart Butte. This project was applied for by the Blackfeet Tribe in 2018. This project is planned to be constructed in 2025.

Bad Rock Canyon Study – A study is underway to determine the best solution for a roadway improvement project through the Bad Rock Canyon on US Highway 2 between Columbia Falls and Hungry Horse. In 2024 a presentation was made to the CSKT Tribal Elders and a follow up meeting will be held with the CKST Tribal Council soon (in 2024). While this area is not on the CSKT Reservation (or the Blackfeet Reservation); it is between the two and an area of cultural significance. Coordination with the CKST and the Blackfeet will continue to determine the best roadway improvement option while considering the cultural significance of the area as well as the importance of this regionally significant highway route.

Crow Creek – Bridge replacement project for the small timber bridge over Crow Creek on Moise Valley Road on the CSKT Reservation, northwest of Charlo. Construction is planned for 2027. The project is currently in the Preliminary Engineering phase and MDT continues to coordinate with the CSKT regarding design and Right-of-Way issues.

BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT

As a business leader and entrepreneur, Governor Gianforte is creating an environment where small businesses can thrive and create good-paying Montana jobs. From cutting taxes and red tape to improving infrastructure, Governor Gianforte has taken significant steps to help Montana's small business owners prosper and create greater opportunities for more Montanans to achieve the American dream. Following a historic year for business creation in 2021 AND 2022, Montana entrepreneurs created over 60,000 new businesses in 2023 - another record-breaking year. Through programs like Made in Montana and the Tribal Business Development Grant, the State of Montana empowers tribally-owned businesses to succeed.

MADE IN MONTANA

Every year, the Montana Department of Commerce hosts the annual Made in Montana Tradeshow at the Lewis & Clark Fairgrounds Exhibition Center in Helena. The Made in Montana program helps Montana businesses develop and market their products both in and out of state.

The program, which includes Grown in Montana and Native American Made in Montana (NAMIM), also builds recognition for products that are authentically Montana --- products that are grown, created, made, and/or enhanced in the state, resulting in 50% or more added value.

For a product to bear the NAMIM logo, it must be made in the state by a registered member of one of Montana's eight tribal nations. The NAMIM badge honors the authentic cultures, creations and values that represent Indian Country across Montana. Products represent all sectors of the economy, including traditional and modern artwork, electronics, lumber, livestock and their genetics, textiles, commodity crops and prepared foods. There are currently 72 NAMIM members.

The 2024 Made in Montana Tradeshow's Native American Made in Montana Pavilion featured four members; three were new program recruits, and all four were first-time exhibitors at the event. The primary function of the Tradeshow is to connect members with wholesale buyers. Each featured exhibitor received event support from Commerce's tribal tourism funds to offset their participation costs.

HOUSING

Gov. Gianforte receives third Housing Task Force report.
Office of the Governor.

Spearheading state efforts to resolve the housing supply shortage, Gov. Gianforte launched a diverse, bipartisan Housing Task Force in July 2022.

The governor's task force produced three reports that identified problems at the root of the state's housing shortage and provided solutions that could be implemented administratively or through changes to law.

The task force's recommendations provided a roadmap for lawmakers ahead of the 2023 legislative session, leading to the historic pro-housing reforms adopted in Montana that some have dubbed the "Montana Miracle."

Through programs like the Low-Income Housing Tax Credit Program, the State of Montana also supported the construction or rehabilitation of multi-family properties in Indian Country.

In the third report of the Task Force, members provided 23 recommendations, including proposals to streamline procedures to construct housing, to clarify roles and responsibilities between building codes and fire marshals, and to set reasonable limits on local impact fees, which can increase housing costs.

"I think these recommendations will really help teachers to live in the school districts where they work, the nurses to live near the hospitals and medical centers where they work, and the firefighters to live in the communities that they serve and protect...This is a bipartisan movement, and I am excited to see the legislature follow through next year."

Former Rep. Danny Tenenbaum, D-Missoula

In February 2024, the Montana Department of Commerce's Indian Equity Fund Small Business Grant Program allocated $320,000 to support 26 Native American start-up or expanding businesses across Montana. The grants, up to $14,000 each, help with purchasing equipment, expanding product lines, or developing new services. Notable recipients include:

Paula's All Occasion Gifts in Browning (Blackfeet): $14,000 for new inventory.

K's Barbershop in Box Elder (Chippewa Cree): $14,000 for a new barbershop building.

The Ronan Mill in Ronan (Confederated Salish and Kootenai): $14,000 for commercial kitchen equipment.

Studio 27 Salon in Billings (Crow): $14,000 for salon equipment.

406 Native Roots in Billings (Fort Belknap): $5,000 to purchase equipment and inventory for the new store.

Hi-Line ATM in Wolf Point (Fort Peck): $14,000 for ATM installations.

Dragon Well Acupuncture and H.O.P.E. in Floweree (Little Shell): $14,000 for business equipment.

Burritos R Us in Lame Deer (Northern Cheyenne): $14,000 for kitchen equipment

406 Native Roots in Billings used its IEF grant funds to buy equipment and inventory. 406 Native Roots.

FARMERS AND RANCHERS IN INDIAN COUNTRY

Agriculture is Montana's number one industry. Our farmers and ranchers, many of whom live and work on Indian reservations, work to produce commodities that are recognized around the world for their superior quality. We take pride in our producers and our diverse agricultural ecosystem that make a vital contribution to feeding the world.

The Montana Department of Agriculture (MDA) runs 30 different programs that are tailored to supporting the agriculture community. Through the facilitation of foreign trade team visits from Mexico, Chile, Argentina, Japan and beyond showcasing our high-quality exports, to working to add value to our commodities here in Montana, the MDA continuously works to preserve and promote the Montana agricultural brand, ensuring that our producers can capture more of the value they create. Additionally, the MDA works to support our producers as they lead the charge in addressing mental health issues and agricultural specific stress support that affects farmers and ranchers state and nationwide.

AGRICULTURE FINANCE PROGRAM

The Montana Department of Agriculture Ag Finance Program has a revolving loan fund to help producers acquire assets for their agriculture enterprises. The Montana Department of Agriculture issued 15 loans worth $967,750 to tribal members on four of Montana's Indian Reservations. These loans are for production agricultural purchases.

LOCAL FOOD PURCHASE ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

The Local Food Purchase Assistance Cooperative Agreement Program (LFPA) supports state, tribal, and territorial governments in purchasing local foods to enhance food supply chain resiliency. Over the past year, the Montana Department of Agriculture distributed $1.5 million to ten sub-awardees, focusing on getting food from producers to underserved communities, including rural and tribal areas. Tribal grantees include:

Day Eagle Hope Project: Works with Fort Belknap Indian Reservation $200,000

Flathead Food Bank: Outreach includes Blackfeet, Flathead, Confederated Salish & Kootenai Tribes $108,000

Helping Hands in Hardin: Crow & Northern Cheyenne Reservation $200,000

Mission West Community Partners: CSKT Food Sovereignty Team, SKC Extension Program for the Flathead Reservation (including the victory garden program) $199,000

North Valley Food Bank: partnering with FAST Blackfeet $155,000

People's Partner for Community Development: Northern Cheyenne Food Pantry Partners $134,000.

Fort Belknap current and future producers gathered at the Rancher Roundup at Aaniiih Nakoda College. Eighteen local producers/youth participated in Natural Resources Conservation Service Drought Management Programs/Strategies, Record Keeping, Management, program updates with FSA, Intertribal Agriculture Council programs, and lending agencies.

One-on-one consultations and virtual workshops occurred throughout the year on drought responses and resources, and application training and support for agriculture loans and assistance. Fort Belknap Montana State University Extension assisted youth producers and new producers with the Montana Department of Agriculture Rural Assistance Loans and Junior Agricultural Loans. Producers were provided with any additional information that aided in solutions to their needs.

TRIBAL 4-H SUPPORT

In the five years since its start, Fort Belknap 4-H continues to grow in experience. The 4-H Lucky Charms Club 14 members continued to learn important life skills. The top priority of 4-H programs at Fort Belknap is the health and safety of our youth, families, volunteers, faculty, staff and supporters. We continue to encourage our future 4-H leaders to learn resiliency and to grow community support. In 2023, Lucky Charm's leaders focused on 4-H showmanship, animal health, and archery.

WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

WORKFORCE OUTREACH

In 2024, the Montana Department of Labor & Industry (DLI) established the Office of Tribal Relations and Outreach to support tribal communities with career resources and opportunities.

Since its inception, DLI's Tribal Liaison has met with leaders from the eight federally recognized tribes and facilitated four roundtable summits with Tribal Employment Rights Office directors.

ACCELERATE MONTANA

In the past year, Accelerate Montana has made significant strides in supporting economic and workforce development in indigenous and rural communities through various initiatives. Programs have engaged hundreds of participants through Native Women Launch, Microsoft TechSpark Tribal Broadband Bootcamp, and the all-indigenous Salesforce training cohort.

These initiatives offered culturally relevant training that enhanced economic empowerment and community development.

SAFETY TRAINING & JOB SKILLS

In 2024, the Department of Labor and Industry (DLI) provided workplace safety training across Montana, allowing 54 tribal students to become OSHA 10 certified, enhancing their resumes and promoting safer work environments.

DLI partnered with local schools and colleges on Reservations to host six training sessions in four communities.

To address healthcare and employment gaps, DLI collaborated with the Fort Peck Tribes and Fort Peck Community College to offer Certified Nursing Assistant programs. Ten students enrolled in the program's first week.

SEMI-TRUCKS ON DEMAND

The Semi-Trucks On Demand Program, started in the last year, addresses the need for skilled labor in Native communities, particularly workers with Commercial Driver's Licenses (CDLs).

DLI collaborates with tribal governments to facilitate CDL training for interested students.

BUILDING THE MEDICAL AND NURSING WORKFORCE

Montana State University's Caring for Our Own Program (CO-OP) celebrated 25 years of diversifying the nursing workforce during the 2023-2024 academic year with 19 students graduating this year, bringing the total number of program graduates to 150.

In order to further expand its educational opportunities, CO-OP will start a nurse midwifery program this fall with five American Indian students in the inaugural class of 14.

The Caring for Our Own Program is also the largest supplier of baccalaureate prepared nurses in Montana and the largest supplier of native nurses as well. Six of the eight nurses at Lame Deer Clinic are Native and educated at Montana State University.

EDUCATION AND CULTURE

Education and workforce training change lives, open the door to greater opportunities, and allow Montanans to reach their full, outstanding potential. Providing our next generation with a high quality education and empowering our workforce with the skills they need to thrive are among our greatest responsibilities.

The State of Montana will continue working with our tribal partners to boost education opportunities, supporting tribes in protecting their cultural integrity, and educating Montanans about the rich history and contributions of our tribal neighbors.

NEXT GENERATION EDUCATION

ONLINE INDIAN EDUCATION FOR ALL

The Office of Public Instruction's Indian Education unit hosts a YouTube channel containing dozens of playlists and hundreds of videos, including all previously recorded webinar series: Tribal Sovereignty; Indian Boarding Schools: From History to Healing; Ethnobotany; Contemporary Issues; Unpacking the Essential Understandings; Essential Understandings Deeper Dives, and our past virtual Best Practices summits and conferences.

The YouTube channel has garnered 7,000 views of the recorded webinar series and over 1,000 feedback surveys were received with overwhelming high scores for content and quality.

STARBASE OUTREACH PROGRAM

STARBASE, the premier youth outreach program of the US Department of Defense (DoD), aims to develop a highly skilled American workforce capable of meeting the DoD's advanced technological requirements. In Montana, STARBASE operates at two locations: Fort Harrison and Great Falls. The program provides 25 hours of hands-on STEAM (science, technology, engineering, art, and math) instruction to fifth-grade students and offers advanced afterschool programs for students in grades 6-12.

From July 1, 2023, to June 31, 2024, STARBASE Great Falls served 1,072 students, including 60 who identified as American Indian or Alaskan Native, and held summer camps for 29 students from Dixon and Hot Springs on the Flathead Reservation. STARBASE Fort Harrison served 1,590 students, with 67 identifying as American Indian or Alaskan Native, and collaborated with the Helena Indian Alliance to offer a summer program for 35 tribal youth in the Helena area.

Both locations also provide STEAM days to out-of-district schools and advanced afterschool programs to further engage students.

The 2023 Making Montana Proud poster series, which highlights the Indian Education for all program, featured 13 Indigenous Montanans. Office of Public Instruction.

The Montana Tech American Indian Science and Engineering Society (AISES) chapter achieved significant milestones this year, including participating in the First Nations Launch High-Power Rocket Competition and planning for next year's Moon Challenge.

The club also fostered indigenous cultural presence on campus through partnerships, events, and launching the first native-themed t-shirt.

AISES is actively seeking new members and faculty to further build an inclusive community.

PRECISION MEDICINE

In 2023, the University of Montana research partnership with the Tribal Health Department of the Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes received new funding from the National Institute of Health to further explore precision medicine and pharmacogenetics.

This grant will support efforts to identify genetic and environmental factors influencing drug response among American Indian and Alaska Native populations, aiming to improve drug therapy and incorporate precision medicine research into clinical practice.

RESILIENCENT

The University of Montana's ResilienceMT exhibition centered around climate resilience in the state of Montana, designed with the direct input of partners within the Fort Belknap and Blackfeet tribes.

This exhibition traveled to the Aaniiih Nakoda College in April of 2024 to serve students from Harlem, Hays Lodgepole, and Dodson with exhibits and activities that educated on wildfires and smoke, flooding, drought and extreme heat and the ways that tribal communities in Montana are adapting to these weather extremes. This exhibition served 270 total participants.

ENCOURAGING ENGINEERING

The Montana Engineering Education Research Center hosted the 2024 Pacific Northwest Section Annual Meeting of the American Society of Engineering Education, themed "Indigenizing Engineering Education."

Over 100 participants, including educators from several states and tribal colleges, attended to discuss incorporating Indigenous knowledge into engineering and supporting underrepresented groups in STEM.

INSPIRING TRIBAL ENTREPRENEURSHIP

The Jake Jobs College of Business and Entrepreneurship (JJCBE) supported and funded the Montana State University chapter of American Indigenous Business Leaders (AIBL) in academic year 2023 to 2024 for an arts and entrepreneurship panel.

JJCBE also provided $6,000 to support the chapter's attendance and participation in the 2024 National AIBL Conference.

TREASURE STATE ACADEMIC INFORMATION & LIBRARY SERVICES (TRAILS)

The TRAILS consortium connects five private colleges, seven tribal colleges, and Montana University System institutions, providing equitable access to high-quality research databases for all, including tribal colleges.

Over the past five years, TRAILS has saved academic libraries more than $7 million through consortial purchasing, benefiting approximately 56,112 members of tribal communities.

Funded by the MSU Library, TRAILS ensures that tribal college libraries serve both educational and community needs, enhancing access to digital resources, professional development, and support services, thereby fostering educational success across Montana's tribal communities.

HIGHER EDUCATION

ENABLING TRANSFER CREDITS FOR TRIBAL STUDENTS

Montana State University Billings (MSUB) College of Business (COB) has signed articulation agreements with eight regional community and four-year colleges including: Great Falls Community College MSU, Miles Community College, Casper College, Western Wyoming Community College, Northwest College, Fort Peck Tribal College, Chief Dull Knife College, and City College in Billings.

The agreements ensure students who attend college for two years at a partner institution and follow a prescribed program are assured that their course credits will transfer as equivalencies to curricular requirements in the MSUB-COB degree programs.

As transfer students, they can then choose to complete their four-year degree through on-site, online, and/or virtual modalities.

Flathead Valley Community College and Salish Kootenai College also have two transfer articulation agreements in place: Early Childhood Education and Elementary Education. Eight Flathead Valley Community College students have transferred to Salish Kootenai College with the intent to study in one of these two programs.

INTERDISCIPLINARY TEACHER EDUCATION

A collaboration between Montana State University, Blackfeet Community College, and Buffalo Hide Academy, this partnership enhances culturally revitalizing and trauma-informed education for the Blackfeet Nation, leading to improved academic success, graduation rates, and self-efficacy.

By engaging students as co-researchers and educators, the initiative promotes cultural awareness and educational equity. Activities include educational exchanges, art workshops, and curriculum support, fostering innovative approaches to Indigenous education.

RELATIONAL SCHOLARSHIP

The MSU College of Education, Health and Human Development (EHHD) developed the book "Relational Scholarship with Indigenous Communities: Confronting Settler Colonial Social Studies," which addresses gaps in social studies education regarding Indigenous knowledge and participatory research methods.

The book, published in 2024, includes contributions from Montana editors, authors, youth, and leaders from various Indigenous Nations, focusing on experiences like Indian Education for All.

TRIBAL HERITAGE & EDUCATION

POET LAUREATE CHRIS LA TRAY

Chris La Tray was named the 2023-2024 Montana Poet Laureate.

A Métis storyteller and descendent of the Pembina Band of the mighty Red River of the North, La Tray is an enrolled member of the Little Shell Tribe of Chippewa Indians. His ancestral family (great great grandparents) were among the 25 families of Red River Métis who founded in 1879 what we know today as Lewistown, MT, where his father was also born.

Born at St. Pat's in Missoula, Chris grew up working class near Frenchtown, MT, where his father worked at the paper mill there for 40-plus years and his mother drove a school bus. Chris lives within eyesight of the remains of that mill today, near the banks of the Clark Fork River, halfway between Missoula and Frenchtown.

Chris is currently a board member for All Nations Health Center in Missoula – one of 41 Urban Indian Health Programs (UIHP) located throughout the United States – and a member of the advisory board for Swan Valley Connections in Condon.

Chris has been a popular keynote speaker at conferences on behalf of organizations as varied as regional architects, healthcare professionals, and national public defenders. La Tray's third book, Becoming Little Shell, was published by Milkweed Editions in 2024.

TRIBAL HISTORY AS PART OF NATIONAL HISTORY DAY IN MONTANA

National History Day in Montana (NHD MT) is an educational outreach program that engages students in historical inquiry and project-based learning. Students choose topics, conduct original research, and present their findings.

Montana Historical Society staff trained two teachers on the Fort Peck Reservation to guide students through History Day projects. This effort led to 17 American Indian students from grades 6-12 participating in regional and state competitions, with topics focused on Indigenous history and culture, such as Blackfeet migration and buffalo. Two students qualified for the national competition at the University of Maryland, where Aniya Smoker (Assiniboine and Sioux) of Frontier, Montana, showcased her exhibit at the Smithsonian of American History for her project on the buffalo slaughter and its impact on Native Americans.

Kevin Kicking Woman (Blackfeet/Cree) from Browning was distinguished as the 2024 Montana Teacher of the Year.

Mr. Kicking Woman has dedicated his career to teaching, learning, and sharing knowledge of his culture and life experiences. He has taught from elementary to university. He began his nearly 25-year teaching career at Browning Middle School, then as the Indian Education Director at Heart Butte Public Schools. He also taught at Loyola Sacred Heart High School in Missoula, while serving as an adjunct professor at the University of Montana.

Today, Mr. Kicking Woman teaches Blackfeet language and culture as a Class 7 teacher at his alma mater, Browning High School.

INDIAN CITIZENSHIP ACT COMMEMORATION

To commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Indian Citizenship Act of 1924, the Montana Historical Society, with input from the Tribal Stakeholder Group, organized events highlighting Montana's Indigenous Nations. In May 2024, MTHS hosted public lectures focusing on Montana's Indigenous diversity, the legal history of tribal sovereignty and citizenship, and the importance of Indigenous history and citizenship.

On June 1, 2024, the Montana Historical Society hosted "Honoring Montana Tribal Veteran Warriors" at the Montana State Capitol flag plaza. The event featured dancing and drumming by the Magpie Singers, food from the Last Chance Community Pow Wow, and a pop-up exhibit on Native Veterans and Warriors. The Blackfeet Warrior Society honor guard presented the colors, and veterans from various Indigenous nations shared their perspectives on citizenship and military service during an honor ceremony.

BIG HORN COUNTY EXTENSION

The Big Horn County (BHC) Extension office collaborates with various organizations to provide relevant programming for Crow and Northern Cheyenne tribe members, including agricultural education, food sovereignty initiatives, and invasive plant management. They offer SNAP-ED nutrition and exercise classes in schools and community locations.

BHC Extension also provides 4-H afterschool programs and supports youth organizations with education in nutrition, life skills, and STEM subjects.

GATHERING OF FAMILIES

Great Falls College Montana State University held its annual Gathering of Families event to host over 400 of Montana's Native Youth from first through fifth grade to participate in activities relevant to their ancestry and culture.

In the past year, the Elk River Writing Project, in partnership with Yellowstone Forever and supported by the National Writing Project and National Park Service grants, Montana State University Billings continued to engage educators in a meaningful place-based learning institute for teachers.

From October 18-20, 2023, the project engaged 15 Montana educators. The program included walking and driving tours of Yellowstone's significant sites, led by park rangers and educators.

CREATIVE AGING INITIATIVE

The Montana Arts Council (MAC), in partnership with the Montana State Library (MSL) and supported by Lifetime Arts, is part of the Advancing Creative Aging in the Western States initiative, focusing on providing art workshops for older adult learners in rural and remote communities. One of the five rural library classes took place in Browning on the Blackfeet Reservation.

Supported by grants and professional guidance from Lifetime Arts, MAC and MSL have launched programs in five Montana community libraries as models for future statewide efforts.

NATURAL RESOURCES AND WILDLIFE

The path to greater opportunity and more good-paying jobs across Montana, including in Indian Country, includes conserving our environment and responsibly developing our natural resources. The State of Montana will continue collaborating with Tribal Nations to promote conservation, manage wildlife, responsibly develop our natural resources, and preserve the beauty of our natural landscape for future generations.

PROMOTING PUBLIC ACCESS

Increasing public access to public lands is a top priority for Governor Gianforte. Since taking office, he has expanded access to new Wildlife Management Areas (WMAs) in the Big Snowy Mountains and Bad Rock Canyon, at Mount Haggin, and a new state park at Somers Beach. And, in February 2024, the governor celebrated the purchase of the 328-acre North Wildcat Coulee WMA along the Yellowstone River.

In 2024, the governor joined Montana Fish, Wildlife, and Parks (FWP) to celebrate the opening of a new public archery range at Flathead Lake State Park, located on the Flathead Reservation in Big Arm.

FWP developed the range to increase public shooting sports opportunities, including archery programs and educational events for children and adults.

This public range features a covered shooting line and a trail system with 12 shooting stations spread across approximately 35 acres overlooking Flathead Lake and across U.S. Highway 93 from the state campground.

COLLABORATING WITH TRIBAL PARTNERS

Partnerships with tribal governments is a mainstay for FWP and the Montana Department of Natural Resources and Conservation (DNRC). Across the state, FWP and DNRC staff works with natural resource staff from various tribes to partner in managing resources on and off the reservations.

FORT BELKNAP PRAIRIE STREAM SURVEYS

A collaborative effort between Fort Belknap Fish and Game and FWP, this project was initiated in 2019 to conduct prairie fish inventories across Fort Belknap streams to gauge species presence/absence, species distribution, and determine the presence/absence of northern pearl dace.

FIRST PEOPLE'S BUFFALO JUMP OPEN HOUSE

First People's Buffalo Jump State Park hosted an open house for all Montana Tribes as part of a capital planning project. Attendees, including about 50 youth and adults, were consulted on potential new amenities, such as an archery range, campground, and expanded visitor center.

After touring the park and visitor center, participants provided feedback and shared ideas for the park's future development.

LYNX SURVEY

Lynx distribution in Montana overlaps with portions of Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribe (CSKT) lands, prompting a collaboration to deploy cameras in randomly selected areas within their jurisdiction.

This partnership ensures that lynx detections on CSKT lands are included in statewide monitoring, leading to more accurate and representative data. From September 1, 2023, to June 1, 2024, lynx monitoring stations were primarily placed on USFS land, with three stations on CSKT lands.

This survey is expected to occur every five years, with continued tribal participation when sample locations intersect tribal lands.

AMERICORPS OUTREACH

FWP Resource Protection Corps have worked with tribal partners to fulfill education, outreach, and other projects at AmeriCorps Host Sites across Montana.

Six FWP AmeriCorps members served as outreach representatives at the 2024 MSU Powwow where all Montana tribes were represented. Members provided interpretive and educational information on Montana's fish and wildlife species to visitors.

FWP AmeriCorps members have also arranged speakers that have included tribal members, including a member from the Crow Tribe who spoke at Lewis and Clark Caverns about the tribe's history. Members from the Little Shell and Salish tribes spoke at the winter storytelling series hosted at Travelers' Rest State Park.

Members stationed at cultural host sites and state parks also lead educational field trips for visitors and school groups throughout their service term.

WATER & FORESTRY

FORT BELKNAP INDIAN COMMUNITY WATER SETTLEMENT

Governor Gianforte joined bipartisan members of Montana’s federal delegation in supporting the Fort Belknap Indian Community Water Settlement Act of 2024, introduced by U.S. Senators Steve Daines and Jon Tester.

“This bipartisan bill is the result of extensive coordination between the State of Montana, the Fort Belknap Indian Community, and the federal government, with valuable input from local leaders, farmers, ranchers, and other water users over many years,” Gov. Gianforte said. “It’s time we get this done for the benefit of the tribes, our farmers and ranchers, and all water users in northcentral Montana.”

COLLABORATING ON TRIBAL WATER COMPACTS

Flathead Reservation Water Management:

DNRC and CSKT continue to provide technical assistance to the Flathead Reservation Water Management Board (FRWMB).

The FRWMB is the first-of-its-kind unified state-tribal governing body that administers water rights on the Flathead Reservation for both tribal and non-tribal members. It will be able to record water rights in the centralized record keeping system in fall 2024 so that water rights information will be easily accessible for all residents of the Flathead Reservation.

The FRWMB is now accepting applications for 8 water rights types and for complaints as well as preparing for CSKT’s upcoming registration of tribal water uses.

Blackfeet:

DNRC worked with the Blackfeet Water Department (BWD) and the United State Geological Survey (USGS) to improve water measurement on Birch Creek in preparation for the implementation of the Birch Creek Management Plan, including cooperatively funding USGS gages on Birch Creek. Improved water measurement will be critical to the Birch Creek Management Plan and meeting the Blackfeet Nation’s instream flow rights.

In June, DNRC assisted BWD staff in installing two seasonal stream gages on Cut Bank Creek. The new gages complement existing USGS gages and will help ensure that the Blackfeet Nation’s instream flow is met and will support water management during low water years. DNRC also provided training for staff on gage maintenance and stream flow measurement.

Northern Cheyenne Tribe:

DNRC is working with the Northern Cheyenne Tribe to improve water management on the Tongue River and Rosebud Creek, which includes restarting an advisory group that provides input on management of Tongue River Reservoir.

DNRC is also working with the Tribe to update the Tongue River Model, which is referenced in the Compact but has since grown archaic, to better meet the needs of all parties.

If the parties agree, the update could be coordinated with a RiverWare model being developed by DNRC, the Northern Cheyenne Tribe, and USGS.

Chippewa Cree Tribe:

DNRC and the Chippewa Cree Water Resources Department are discussing how to improve water management on Beaver and Box Elder creeks. This includes discussions about restarting a reservoir release committee that provides input on management of Bonneau Reservoir on the Rocky Boy's Reservation.

DNRC cooperatively funds USGS gages on Beaver Creek and Box Elder Creek that will improve water management and help meet the Chippewa Cree's instream flow rights.

As the Chippewa Cree Tribe develops its current and future water use list as provided for in the Chippewa Cree-Montana water compact, DNRC is providing technical assistance on options for gathering and organizing the information.

Fort Peck Assiniboine & Sioux Tribes:

The Assiniboine & Sioux Fort Peck Tribes is represented on the 2023-24 Comprehensive Water Review Stakeholder Working Group.

As a member of the group, the Tribes play a crucial role in helping develop and vet policy recommendations.

URBAN AND COMMUNITY FORESTRY

In 2024, DNRC partnered with tribal communities on tree planting initiatives and educational events.

The Blackfeet Environmental Office's Earth Day/Arbor Day events in Browning attracted over 500 attendees, with more than 800 trees distributed.

An Arbor Day event at Blackfeet Community College provided 600 trees to around 300 participants. The Blackfeet Nation earned recognition as a Tree City of the World, and Blackfeet Community College became the only tribal college in the nation designated as a Tree Campus USA.

DNRC also provided 50 trees to Fort Belknap for Earth Day and planted 200 serviceberry trees in community gardens.

On the Crow Reservation, DNRC supplied 200 trees, engaged in landscape planning for senior housing, and explored apple tree propagation at Chief Plenty Coups State Park.

Overall, DNRC's Urban and Community Forestry Program planted or distributed over 2,500 trees across tribal communities, directly impacting approximately 1,500 people.

Termaine Edmo of the Blackfeet Environmental Office assists in Blackfeet Community College's Arbor Day celebration by providing education such as cultural relevance and uses of trees. Department of Natural Resources and Conservation.

SAFE AND HEALTHY COMMUNITIES

The chief responsibility of government is to keep communities safe and secure. Governor Gianforte is committed to working with tribal partners to make our communities safer and increase access to treatment and recovery services in tribal communities, making a historic, $300 million investment to improve behavioral health and developmental disabilities systems in Montana this year.

For our communities and families to stay healthy and thrive, Governor Gianforte will continue working with tribal and local leaders to increase Montanans' access to health care, preserve access to care in our rural communities, and bring down the cost of health care and prescription drugs.

The State of Montana will continue to prioritize making investments to build healthier communities, providing access to preventative health care resources, strengthening families, growing our health care workforce, and increasing Montanans' choices to promote good health.

HEALTHY COMMUNITIES

On May 22, 2023, Governor Greg Gianforte signed House Bill 872 into law, allocating $300 million to reform Montana’s behavioral health and developmental disabilities service systems. This investment, part of the governor's Budget for Montana Families, aims to expand intensive and community-based behavioral health and developmental disabilities services. The Behavioral Health System for Future Generations (BHSFG) Commission, established through this bill, made 22 recommendations, including nine near-term initiatives (NTIs) for using these funds.

The Commission and the Department of Public Health and Human Services (DPHHS) gained valuable insights from meetings with Tribal leaders and Urban Indian Health Organizations (UIHOs) about the behavioral health and developmental disabilities needs of Native American communities.

IMPROVING BEHAVIORAL HEALTH IN TRIBAL COMMUNITIES

In line with his priorities to repair the behavioral health system in Montana and in Tribal communities, Governor Gianforte approved up to $6.5 million in one-time grants to Tribal nations and UIHOs to improve their capacity to meet behavioral health needs, including facility enhancements, mobile crisis response teams, and transportation options.

Tribal partners also contributed recommendations to the Alternative Settings Project, which aims to reduce reliance on state-funded institutional settings for non-forensic patients requiring intensive behavioral health and developmental disabilities services. This project, managed by the Office of Strategy and Transformation, will continue through the 2025 legislative session.

The Tribal Health Improvement Program (T-HIP) is a historic partnership between tribal, state, and federal governments to address factors that contribute to health disparities in the American Indian population eligible for Medicaid and residing on a reservation. Tier 1 seeks to improve the health of members who have chronic illnesses or are at risk of developing serious health conditions through intensive care coordination of individual members. Tiers 2 and 3 focus on addressing specific health focus areas that contribute to health disparities.

Currently, Blackfeet, Chippewa Cree, Fort Belknap, and Fort Peck Tribes are running Tier 1 and Tier 2 programs. CSKT and the Northern Cheyenne Tribe are running Tier 1 programs and working on Tier 2 proposals. The Crow Tribe is running a Tier 1 program.

The total reimbursement for all seven (7) participating T-HIP Tribes, from July 1, 2023, through May 31st, 2024, is $24,950,925.

| TRIBE NAME | NUMBER OF PARTICIPANTS |
|---------------------|------------------------|
| BLACKFEET | 4,129 |
| CSKT | 4,014 |
| FORT BELKNAP TRIBES | 1,159 |
| FORT PECK | 3,772 |

MOBILE HEALTH TRAINING PROGRAM

Over the past year, Montana University’s One Community in Health (OCIH) program served 1,097 American Indian children across four tribal nations—Northern Cheyenne, Blackfeet, Crow, and CSKT—providing essential healthcare services like dental and developmental screenings and preventive care.

These efforts have reduced health issues and improved educational outcomes. OCIH's shift to tribally sponsored clinics supports promotes long-term health and cultural competence.

Junior nursing student, Hazel Steinhauer, conducts a hearing screening assessment with digital imaging during the spring clinic at Blackfeet Nation Head Start. Montana State University.

In his first three and half years in office, Governor Gianforte has partnered with tribal leaders to address the substance use epidemic in Indian Country. Together with DPHHS, the governor invested $500,000 annually in substance abuse prevention and treatment programs for tribal communities through the Healing and Ending Addiction Through Recovery and Treatment (HEART) Fund.

The HEART Fund was the single largest new expenditure of the governor's first budget. In addition to supporting nonprofits and non-governmental organizations that serve Montana's urban, rural, and tribal communities, the HEART Fund provides a total of $500,000 in grants directly to Tribal Nations each year for substance use disorder prevention and mental health promotion.

Gov. Gianforte hearing from the Rocky Boy Agency Tribal Council at the Rocky Boy Health Center in Box Elder. Governor's Office.

Little Shell, and Fort Belknap held Native Wellness Gatherings and other community events. Fort Peck Assiniboine and Sioux Tribes organized horsemanship clinics, hunting camps, and social dances to reinforce cultural connections, continuing their Horse Culture program to support healing.

The Northern Cheyenne and Crow Tribes provided spiritual and cultural activities for members in treatment and recovery, such as sweat lodges and tipi pole gathering. CSKT used HEART funds to continue developing a Healing Court aimed at promoting recovery through a culturally safe, trauma-informed approach, offering alternatives to jail by guiding individuals towards healing.

MONTANA ZERO SUICIDE GRANT FOR AMERICAN INDIAN ADULTS

DPHHS was part of a five-year Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration grant that focused on implementing the Zero Suicide Initiative into Tribal and Urban Indian Health Centers throughout Montana. The project launched on September 30, 2020, and ran through January 29, 2024.

As a result of collaborations with eight participating Tribal Health Facilities and Urban Indian Health Centers, the participants established methods to effectively exchange information to better assist the patients they serve. Tribal consultations led to increased collaboration between the state and tribal partners, which has led to even more partners becoming a part of the resource network.

TURTLE ISLAND TALES

Turtle Island Tales is a year-long, mail-based program for American Indian families with children aged 3-8, focused on improving diet, physical activity, stress, sleep, and emotional regulation. It includes lessons, stickers, a puppet, trading cards, and a website with stories and games. After positive results with 45 Blackfeet families, the program is being tested with 57 more families through partnerships, with a second round planned for 2024.

TRIBAL HEADSTART PARTNERSHIP

In the past year, the University of Montana Western (UMW) has made significant strides through its Tribal Head Start subgrant, supporting 13 American Indian students in distance learning and two on campus.

UMW's partnership with tribal colleges has facilitated B.S. degrees for graduates in Early Childhood Education.

PROTECTING TRIBAL COUNTRY FROM ENVIRONMENTAL CONTAMINATION

In January 2023, the Town of Lodge Grass took ownership of the Lodge Grass Lumber Mill site after the building burned down.

A September 2023 assessment by the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) revealed high levels of lead-contaminated soil and asbestos, with cleanup costs estimated over $300,000.

DEQ, in collaboration with the Environmental Protection Agency, Crow Tribe, and Beartooth Resource Conservation & Development, is working to protect public health and support redevelopment.

The cleanup will benefit 430 local residents and create temporary abatement jobs. Federal funding enabled the DEQ Brownfields Program to focus on sites in disadvantaged communities and enhance partnerships with Tribal Brownfields Programs.

CONSUMER PROTECTION

The Office of the Commissioner of Securities and Insurance (CSI) brought together a diverse advisory group devoted to improving financial literacy education in tribal communities across Montana. These members comprise leaders from tribal communities, banking, state government, and economic development.

In September 2023, the advisory group committed to meeting quarterly and working to break through the barriers of providing financial literacy education in Montana's tribal communities. Progress and milestones of the advisory group include:

- Commissioner Troy Downing updated the State Tribal Economic Development Commission at its February 2024 quarterly meeting on the advisory group's goals and objectives.
- Developed a Tribal Community Resource Library.
- Met with tribal college presidents to build relationships and develop needs assessments in each tribal community.
- Developed three financial literacy learning models to present to Tribal communities and identified the needs of school-aged children.
- Partnered with the Blackfeet Financial Literacy Project.
- Participated in the 2024 Tribal College Career Fairs in Browning and Pablo.

PARTNERING ON PUBLIC SAFETY

ENHANCING PUBLIC SAFETY ON ROCKY BOY RESERVATION

In 2024, the Montana Department of Corrections (DOC) and the Chippewa Cree Tribe of the Rocky Boy's Reservation established a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) to enhance public safety and support the reentry of Native American offenders into Montana communities.

The MOU ensures communication between the DOC and the tribe about tribal members under DOC supervision, facilitating cooperation for effective supervision and reentry support. This partnership helps create a safer environment while providing offenders with the necessary resources, including family, community support, and reentry services, to encourage successful reintegration and positive outcomes.

MONTANA NATIONAL GUARD RECRUITMENT

The Montana Army National Guard Recruiting and Retention Battalion (RRB) values the importance of Native American culture within its ranks.

In April, RRB Command Sergeant Major DeBoo attended a tribal council meeting and received approval to film on the Blackfeet reservation for an upcoming recruiting commercial.

Additionally, DeBoo served as the guest speaker at the Honoring Montana Tribal Veteran Warriors event on June 1st, commemorating the 100th anniversary of the Indian Citizenship Act of 1924. RRB is committed to building relationships with each tribe in Montana to showcase their unique traditions, languages, and Soldiers within the Montana Army National Guard.

Command Sergeant Major Keith DeBoo participates as a guest speaker at the "Honoring Montana Tribal Veterans" event held at the Montana State Capitol flag plaza on June 1, 2024.

REDUCING OVERDOSES IN TRIBAL COUNTRY

The Montana Department of Justice's Overdose Response Strategy (ORS) team, which consists of a Drug Intelligence Officer and Public Health Analyst, is currently collaborating with five tribal law enforcement agencies, eight tribal public health agencies, three federal law enforcement entities with jurisdiction on tribal lands in Montana, and Rocky Mountain Tribal Leaders Council (RMTLC) – Tribal Epi Center (RMHTLC) to assist with collaboration efforts, data sharing, and intel sharing between local, state, tribal, and federal agencies in order to respond effectively to the growing drug overdose problem in Montana.

This year, the Montana ORS Team, working with RMTLC, helped every tribal health department in Montana sign up for their own agency account for overdose mapping software, which provides near real-time suspected overdose data across jurisdictions to support public safety and public health efforts. The ORS team worked to train every department as they were onboarded onto the system.

The focus is to utilize the software to set up coordinated response plans to overdoses occurring throughout the State of Montana and in Tribal communities.

MISSING AND MURDERED INDIGENOUS PERSONS TASK FORCE

The Montana Missing and Murdered Indigenous Persons (MMIP) Task Force, established in 2019, addresses the alarming rate at which Indigenous people go missing—four times higher than non-Indigenous individuals in Montana.

Comprising representatives from each of Montana's eight tribal nations, the task force identifies jurisdictional barriers, examines causes, and enhances interagency cooperation.

Reauthorized by Governor Gianforte and the 2023 Legislature, the task force will operate until 2033. In June 2024, Attorney General Austin Knudsen appointed the current task force members.

TACKLING YOUTH VAPING IN INDIAN COUNTRY

The Montana Tobacco Use Prevention Program (MTUPP) partnered with the Rocky Mountain Tribal Leader's Council and Good Health and Wellness in Indian Country to create a culturally appropriate campaign. The campaign focused on educating parents and adults about the risks of youth vaping, featuring real stories from community members, including Apsaalooke dancer and rapper Supaman.

The campaign, titled "Talk to your kids about Vaping: It Matters," directs families to KnowTheFactsMT.com for information on the dangers of e-cigarettes and resources for quitting.
